The performance measurements on the Friendster graph presented in the paper are invalid as the maxium vertex label was improperly specified. Not all edges of the Friendster grap were read in by the experiment. The scripts can be corrected by using "-n 130000000" as a parameter to the executable to load in the Friendster graph. The resulting execution and performance results would not match those presented in the paper.